

LANDMARKS ILLINOIS

2013 Legendary Landmark John W. McCarter, Jr.

John W. McCarter, Jr. is President Emeritus of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, where he served as President and CEO for 16 years. Mr. McCarter is a native Chicagoan. He was formerly a Senior Vice President of Booz-Allen & Hamilton, Inc, President of DeKalb Corporation and Budget Director of the State of Illinois.

Currently, Mr. McCarter serves on the boards of W.W. Grainger, Argonne National Laboratory, Lucas Museum, National Recreation Foundation and the Chicago Humanities Festival. He is a Regent of the Smithsonian Institution and serves on the Governing Council of the Prize to End Blindness by 2020. Mr. McCarter is an Emeritus Trustee of the University of Chicago and Emeritus Trustee and former Chairman of WTTW. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of the Arts and Sciences. Mr. McCarter graduated from Princeton University (AB), Harvard Business School (MBA), and attended the London School of Economics.

John W. McCarter, Jr. is President Emeritus of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, where he served as President and CEO for 16 years. Mr. McCarter is a native Chicagoan. He was formerly a Senior Vice President of Booz-Allen & Hamilton, Inc, President of DeKalb Corporation, and Budget Director of the State of Illinois. Currently, Mr. McCarter serves on the boards of W.W. Grainger, Argonne National Laboratory, Lucas Museum, National Recreation Foundation, and the Chicago Humanities Festival. He is a Regent of the Smithsonian Institution and serves on the Governing Council of the Prize to End Blindness by 2020. Mr. McCarter is an Emeritus Trustee of the University of Chicago and Emeritus Trustee and former Chairman of WTTW. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of the Arts and Sciences. Mr. McCarter graduated from Princeton University (AB), Harvard Business School (MBA), and attended the London School of Economics.