JACKIE TAYLOR HOLSTEN

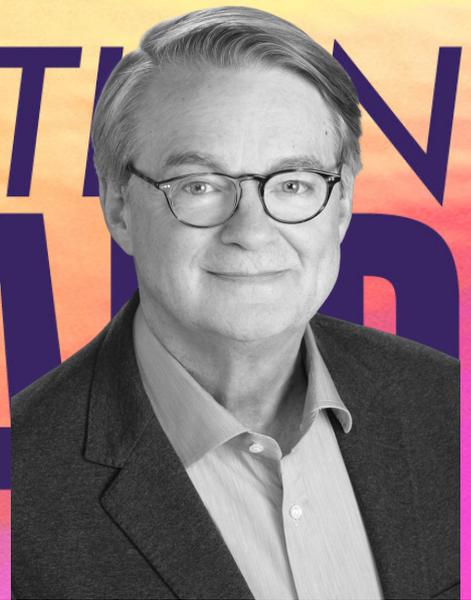

SVP & General Counsel, Holsten Real Estate Development Corporation

Jackie Taylor Holsten, Senior Vice President and General Counsel with Holsten Real Estate Development Corporation, spearheads its property management and administration divisions; she is also Board Chair and Executive Director of Holsten Human Capital Development, NFP. Jackie joined the Holsten team as Vice President of Human Capital Development heading up the company's human capital initiatives in resident transition, community building and workforce development, and she was instrumental in evolving the Human Capital Development division of Holsten into a Not-for-Profit.

Prior to joining Holsten, Jackie worked for the City of Chicago holding various positions in both the Building Department - as Assistant Director of Personnel, Interim Director of Demolition, and Chief Administrative Officer of Permits - and in the Planning Department as an Assistant Commissioner overseeing projects on Chicago's Near West Side, which included the University of Illinois South Campus expansion and the Illinois Medical District; she was the department's point person for public housing as they embarked upon mixed income communities.

Jackie is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois; a current member of the American Bar Association, Illinois State Bar Association, All Chicago's Board of Directors, and Landmarks Illinois' Board of Directors; former member of Loyola University's Board of Trustees, and current Chair of Holsten Human Capital Development, NFP.

PETER HOLSTEN

President, Holsten Real Estate Development Corporation

In 1975, Peter Holsten founded Holsten Real Estate Development Corporation, which has since grown into a team of companies including real estate development, property management, construction management, and social services. These companies are linked by a mission to profitably develop affordable, mixed-income, and mixed-use housing by using creative site selection and financing; cost-efficient construction; leasing and sales strategies that are effective in the community; and comprehensive supportive services. Holsten Development has developed more than 5,000 housing units and over 500,000 square feet of retail space with total costs in excess of $700 million. Under Peter Holsten's direction, the Holsten companies have received numerous local and national awards for affordable housing development, mixed-income housing development, historic preservation, property management, and has been featured in numerous media including 60 Minutes II for its mixed-income development at North Town Village. Peter Holsten has a BS in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Wisconsin and an MBA from the University of Chicago. Peter donates his time and resources to numerous organizations including the University of Wisconsin, the City of Chicago Affordable Housing Task Force, the Chicago Rehab Network, the Chicagoland Apartment Association, and the State of Illinois Housing Task Force.
