Landmarks Illinois Easements Program Overview

A preservation easement is a legal agreement between a property owner, who maintains the property according to federal guidelines, and a qualified organization, which approves changes to the property and enforces the terms of the easement. An easement protects a historic site in perpetuity.

In 1976, Landmarks Illinois (then called Landmarks Preservation Council of Illinois) received its first easement: the Henry Demarest Lloyd house in Winnetka. In the early 1980s, Landmarks Illinois organized a formal preservation easement donation program and acquired easements on Frank Lloyd Wright's Unity Temple and the Chicago Theater. Today, Landmarks Illinois protects nearly 550 historic properties across the state with preservation easements. The easements internship provides a great opportunity for a student seeking to learn more about historic preservation easements and gain experience working for an advocacy-focused nonprofit organization.

Internship responsibilities include:

- Work with Easements and Advocacy Associate Amber Delgado.
- Transfer easement documents to a new database on AirTable.
- Consolidate files/photos associated with easement properties to AirTable Database.
- Easement-related tasks as needed such as assisting with organizing and preparing for an annual mailing to all easement property owners.
